

Flydonna 2018

Tg5 report transcript-translation

Video source <https://youtu.be/ploHqb8AAWg>

TG5 anchorwoman, journalist Cesara Buonamici, introduces report: "Women approaching flight, aeronautics, who become military pilots, as well".

Location: Italy, airport Adele & Giorgio Orsi, interviewee Donatella Ricci, Flydonna founder: "The spirit of Flydonna is to make us known, let women become aware that if they have a passion, even a small one, they have to have the opportunity to try go for it. All over Italy there are plenty of aviation fields, airports like this one. There are schools where to try the first flight; if passion arises, one can take up flight training courses and from there carry on with it".

Journalist Elisabetta Biraghi "It's called Flydonna, it's the 8th international meeting women pilot. This year it takes place at Calcinate, near Varese (Italy). There are young and adult women who chose to fly to make their dream come true, or made flight their career and have become professional pilots".

Interviewee: President Aeroclub Adele Orsi, Margherita Acquaderni. "We have military representatives, this is an important achievement, civil airlines pilots, all in all a celebration of women".

Journalist Elisabetta Biraghi: "a two-day show and a get-together moment for those into different aeronautics specialties.

From military to civil aviation, from cargo to passengers airplanes through helicopters, ultralight airplanes and gliders pilots".

Interviewee: pilot Fire-fighter Corps, Floriana Abballe . "I'm a former civil pilot, as of 2006 part of the Firefighters Corps as Piaggio 180 pilot of Firefighter Corps".

Journalist Elisabetta Biraghi: "Italian Armed Forces representatives, three passionate women pilots in their thirties, found their professional fulfillment".

In video from left to right, pilots: Italian Navy, vessel Lieutenant, Carmela Carbonara.

Pilot, first woman flight instructor Italian Air Force, Capt. Carla Angelucci . Italian Army Aviation, Capt. Hera Galli.

Interviewee: Guardia di Finanza (Financial Guard), Lieutenant Eleonora Macaluso . "At the moment I'm the forth officially certified pilot; we have other young women undergoing the course, so hopefully we'll be able to increase the number".

End of transcript/translation